NEW DEAL PLAN COST 16 BILLION

Federal Expenditures Includes Loans, Part of Which Officials Expect To Recover

$7,000,000,000 UNSPENT

Four Billion for Work Relief and Two Billion in R F C. 'Kitty' Pointed To

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Jan 2—While President Roosevelt shaped his spending program for the future today a year end recapitulation showed the new deal had already spent or loaned more than $16 000 000 000 for relief and recovery

Part of this represents loans upon which federal officials say they will recover in the main

Treasury figures showed also that almost $7 000 000 000 of appropriated funds remained unexpended at the end of the year including the bulk of the $4 000 000 000 work relief fund and almost $2 000 000 000 in the Reconstruction Finance Corp

For Future Relief

This was a kitty upon which the President could plan his relief and recovery expenditures for the future.

Counted in the total of $16 000 000 000 already spent or loaned for recovery were more than $4 000 000 000 loaned by the Home Owners loan Corp and the Federal Farm Mortgage Corp, but not taken from the treasury

This money was raised through the sale of bonds guaranteed by the government and upon which the government has a contingent liability but is not the original debtor

The grand total also was enhanced by loans from revolving funds by which the same funds were used over and over again

$12 400 000 000 Latest Figure

The latest treasury statement of expenditures for recovery and relief showed a total of $12 400 000 000 which did not include the activities of the farm and city mortgage loans.

This total also included some of the expenditures of the Hoover administration through the Recon struction Finance Corp but on the other hand did not take into account the duplicate loans from the same revolving fund

President Roosevelt has promised that the peak of spending has passed He has not hinted at the size of the appropriation he will ask next year for relief but all indications have been that it will be sharply reduced

Loans To Farmers Included

A recapitulation of the past expenditures show however that relief expenditures have been only a part of the huge drain on the treasury during the depression years Agricultural aid has bulked large along with loans to industry

Including unexpected balances most of which have been allocated federal funds have gone as follows

For agricultural aid more than $5,250 000 000 for public works including this years work relief almo $3 500 000 000 for home owners aid exclusive of the contingent liabilities $4 000 000 000 and for miscellaneous purposes such a federal deposit insurance the RFC and the TVA about $600 000 000

NEW AUTO LAW HELD UP A WHILE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O., Jan. 2—Judge Dana F Reynolds restrained temporarily today enforcement of an automobile inspection law imposing a $25 fee on cars purchased outside Ohio

Judge Reynolds curtailed enforcement by the highway patrol pending hearing of an injunction suit filed by Charles C. Jaites, secretary of the State Automobile Association.

MARION AUTO TOLL FAR OVER STATE AVERAGE

Traffic Deaths in County Increase 46 Per Cent During Last Year.

51 PER CENT IN STATE

Other Counties in This District Listed, Ohio Records 1 Death Every 246 Minutes

Marion cou 19 automobile fatalities in 19 were among a total of 2 154 in 88 of the states 88 counties The Associated Press reported in a r dispatch from Columbus Figu of two counties were not available for the survey

Marion county figures represent an increase 46 per cent over the 13 fatalit of 1934 The increase for the ate was listed at 51 per cent as pared with 1934

Three of the six counties that border on Marion county reported fewer fatalities in 935 than in 1934 two listed increases and for one county the figures for the two years were the same

District Figures

Counties in this district reporting decreases are Crawford four in 1935 and six in 1934 Hardin 11 in 1935 and 16 in 1934 Union seven in 1935 and 10 in 934 Those listing increases are Morrow 17 in 1935 and four in 1934 Wyandot five in 1935 and three in 1934 Delaware county's figures were 16 for each of the two years

The Associated Press survey showed one person was killed in traffic accidents in Ohio every 246 minutes—one each four hours and six minutes

The two counties from which 1935 fatality figures were not available listed 16 of the 2044 deaths tabulated in the 1934 survey

Ohio's total was six per cent of the estimated 1935 toll of 35 500 set for the nation by the National Safety council in reporting that the national traffic death rate decreased 12 per cent in the first eleven months of 1935

Surprisingly Ohio's nine most populous counties showed a decrease of 43 from 1934 with Cuyahoga county (Cleveland) and Hamilton county (Cincinnati) setting the pace in successful efforts to reduce the death toll

The number of deaths ranged, by counties from 296 in Cuyahoga which had 331 in 1934 to none in Carroll and Van Wert counties each of which had five the preceding year

Forty two of the less populous counties showed increases over 1934 28 showed decreases and seven showed no change

OHIO SOLDIERS HOME CONVERSION SOUGHT

Welfare Department Will Ask Assembly To Make Institution Place for Mentally Ill

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O., Jan 2—Oakley Spaght assistant director said today the welfare department will ask the legislature to convert the Soldiers and Sailors home at Sandusky into an institution for the mentally ill in accordance with a recommendation of the state government survey

The proposal Spaght said will be presented at the next regular session of the legislature, if not before He said the plan has the approval of Milton S. Campbell, state Legion commander

Under the plan the 781 residents of the home would be transferred to the government hospital at Dayton. Of the home residents 11 are Civil war veterans, 121 Spanish war veterans and the remainder World war veterans.

ANOTHER APPEAL MADE IN CLOTHING CAMPAIGN

Supplies Sought To Enable Needy Children To Attend School Monday.

Distribution of clothing for children who will start in to school Monday morning was begun today at the Marion county relief office on South Prospect street under the auspices of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs co sponsors with the P T A council in a drive for wearable children's clothing

So far the response has not been any too favorable Mrs John Waddell chairman and her assistants reported today and many articles contributed such as summer hats purses and summer clothing are not usable

We believe the people are willing to cooperate in providing clothing for the city's less fortunate children and feel that some must have misinterpreted the appeal the committee stated today in discussing the drive

What we need is clothing in good repair and clean so that the children may be able to start in to school Monday morning," Mrs Waddell said Clothing for adults also will be most acceptable she states but emphasizes the need of children's clothing "from the skin out

There are no facilities and no time to repair or remake clothing Mrs Waddell points out Contributions will be received by the committee Friday between 9 30 a m and 4 p m Clothing also will be distributed to relief clients during these hours she stated Children applying for clothing are asked to have the card given them by their teacher just prior to the closing of school for the holidays

Two Ohio State Students Shot In Crime Series

Police Claim They Admit Number of Armed Robberies To Finance Education

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 2.—Two young Ohio State university students their prospects of crime financed careers blasted by police gunfire confessed today authorities said to a series of armed robberies that ended only when both boys were shot as they fled arrest in a stolen automobile

Hospital attendants said he two James F McClanahan wounded in the chest and his brother Bert shot in the shoulder were in fair condition

The boys 20 and 22 respectively talked freely Their captors Detectives Ray Archer and R E Cooke said they confessed the New Years night kidnaping of a motorist robbery of a filling station and a similar kidnaping and drugstore robbery Dec 13

Both said they sought funds for their winter quarter university fees but obtained a total of barely $40 in the four crimes

James is a junior in the college of education Bert a freshman dental student who formerly attended Hiram college They said they lived in Columbus but their father was somewhere in Indiana and their mother dead

The detectives quoted the youths as saying they had considered robbery for some time as a means of obtaining necessary educational funds

Last night they noticed Dale Rogers entering his car on a downtown street

Rogers was taken captive robbed of $5 and dumped out several blocks away A Negro elevator operator witnessed the abduction and notified police

Archer said the students confessed they robbed a filling station of $4.20 immediately afterward

Cooke and Archer hunting the robbers became suspicious of a car that violated a traffic turn regulation pursued it to another filling station and shot the robbers when they attempted to escape Bert had a revolver in his lap He made no attempt to use it the detectives said

The officers said the McClanahans admitted seizing Elery L. Gruit a school teacher Dec 13, and using his car in a pharmacy holdup that netted about $30

Year's Sales Tax Totals $318,498 in Marion County

Income from sale of sales tax stamps in Marion county last year was $318 408 10 County Treasurer Homer D Coe reported today as the first year of the tax came to an end This figure is for 49 weeks the sales tax law not having gone into effect until late in January 1935 The figure also will be increased later when reports are received from the sale of stamps at the LaRue and Caledonia banks The banks were made sales stations for tax stamps about two months ago

Sale of stamps at the treasurer's office for the 49 week period averaged $6 459 15 with the first week ended Jan 26 keeping the lead with $11,826 91 This later figure, however is not a fair basis of comparison for the weekly sales because many merchants bought more than needed for the first week

The second largest week was Christmas week when sales amounted to $10 612 11 The lowest sale was in the week ended Feb 9 when stamps worth $3 462.56 were sold.

The total for the year averaged $7 01 for every man, woman and child in Marion county

MILK FUND BENEFIT SHOOT ATTRACTS 100 SPORTSMEN

Women Contestants Included in Event That Nets $110 for King's Daughters Health Program.

More than 100 sportsmen from Marion and a dozen other communities helped poor $110.75 into the baby milk fund of the King's Daughters at a special New Year's day shoot at the Marion Gun club yesterday.

The club, which donated the gross receipts of the shoot with the exception of the cost of targets, today turned over to Mrs. Walter H. Riley, King's Daughters president, a check for $86.97. The remainder of the $110 75 is represented by a $25 anonymous contribution received by the club recently to be the club's grounds, located on the Truman Owens farm east of Marion, and continued until darkness.

QUICK DECISION ON BONUS SEEN

Leaders of Three Veterans' Organizations Unite on Plan for Immediate Payment.

ROBINSON SEES VICTORY

Would Also Include Incentive, in Form of Interest, Against Cashing Certificates

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Jan 2—Lightning action in congress on the soldiers bonus was forecast in many quarters today as leaders of three major veterans organizations lined up behind a new plan for immediate cash payment

The ex soldiers leaders argued their plan would cost only $1 000 000 000 immediately instead of the $2,000 000 000 usually mentioned They said it offered an incentive in the form of interest to induce many veterans to hold their adjusted service certificates instead of cashing them now

Sen Robinson the Democratic leader predicted passage of a cash bonus bill which will receive executive approval

No Way To Raise Money

The plan—announced by the heads of the American Legion Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans—made no mention of methods of raising the money leaving that to the government Thus the inflationary Patman plan to pay with new currency which passed congress last session only to meet defeat after a veto was tossed overboard

Even before the agreement bonus leaders in congress had been saying they saw some possibility of pushing a compromise bonus bill to a house vote before the close of next week

The new concord among the veterans' organizations was expected to give a potent impetus to a drive for early action There have been free predictions by some congressmen that a bonus bill would be enacted this campaign year even over a presidential veto The President has not disclosed his present attitude The new plan calls for

Immediate Payment

1 Immediate full cash payment of the adjusted service certificates which under present law do not mature until 1945

2 Refunds of interest paid on loans on certificates

3 Cancellation of interest accrued and unpaid

4 A stipulation that veterans who do not desire to cash their certificates may receive interest on their maturity value from the date on which full payment becomes possible

5 Issuance of special government obligations in lieu of adjusted service certificate to the value of about $500 000 000 now held as security by the United States life insurance reserve account

Explain Cost Figure

In a statement the veterans leaders explained their estimate of $1 000 000 000 as the immediate cost

They said it was based on the fact that the United States life insurance reserve fund has liens upon these certificates in the extent of about $ 600 000 000 for which other special government obligations can be issued thus requiring no present cash outlay, and that approximately 600,000 veterans holding certificates to the value of $500 000 000 upon which they have not borrowed, may reasonably be expected to hold them if the added increment of interest payments thereupon is extended to them We believe this estimate of cost of approximately $1 000 000,000 to be conservative

BIG ETHIOPIAN DRIVE CHECKED

Officials Silent Concerning War Chief's Movements but Italian Resistance Cited.

VICTORY IS REPORTED

Concern Felt for Guns Sent Ras Kassa No Word from Him.

BY DEAN FRANCIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The first major Ethiopian offensive on the northern front of the Italo-Ethiopian war gone since the start of hostilities three months ago is encountering serious setbacks, authoritative sources in Addis Ababa disclosed today

Official silence enfolded the movements of Ethiopian War Minister Ras Mulugheta who was reported to have launched general attacks against the Italians last Saturday but informants in the capital city said he was meeting stern resistance

The populace was enthused by government descriptions of victories for Ras Beyouma forces in the Tembien sector and Ras Aycle's followers in the Scire area but nothing was made public concerning the activities of Ras Mulugheta

Anxious About Guns

The movements of Ras Kassa, another major Ethiopian leader at the northern front likewise was undisclosed Anxiety was expressed by Ethiopian circles over a large amount of new guns and ammunition at Ras Kassa who has failed to communicate with the government since the offensive started

An Addis Ababa awaited word from the north anxiously the government clarified confusion over the Italian bombardment Monday of a Swedish Red Cross ambulance

CENSUS SUPERVISOR NAMES ASSISTANT

W. F Parr To Aid Winemiller in Directing District Business Survey.

With the national business and manufacturing census set to get under way in Marion and nearby counties within a few days Paul L. Winemiller, census supervisor, today announced appointment of W. F. Parr of 263 Lafayette street as his assistant.

Enumerators, taken from county relief rolls, will be announced when the census work starts In addition to the assistant, a secretary and a clerk, eight enumerators will be used in this county The remaining 28 to be appointed in the Eighth congressional district, over which Mr Winemiller has supervision will be taken from relief rolls in the other counties. They are Crawford, Hancock, Hardin Morrow and Wyandot counties.

Congressman Brooks Fletcher has donated his headquarters in the Courthouse Memorial building to be used as the central census office in this district.

The census is to include a thorough survey of all business and manufacturing to provide information that will show the progress of economic recovery in the United States and the amount of labor being absorbed by private industry.

NIGHT ADDRESS IRKS FLETCHER

Claims It Brings "State of Union" Talk "Down to Level of Political" Argument.

NOTIFIES TWO AIR CHAINS

Wants Same Facilities, Stations and Terms To Put Case Before U. S. Public

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Jan 2 The new deal's surprise move to start congress off with a night broadcast by President Roosevelt became an explosive political issue today with the Republican leadership demanding quick access to the same radio audience to make reply

Republican Chairman Henry P. Fletcher declared that the plans for the delivery of the message on the state of the union at a joint session at 9 o'clock eastern standard time tomorrow night brought this annual presidential duty "down to the level of a political speech

Demands Equal Chance

He served notice on two major radio chains National Broadcasting Co and Columbia Broadcasting System that the G O P expects an equal opportunity to place our case before the people with the same facilities the same stations and potentially the same audience CBS reserved comment pending consideration of the telegram containing Fletcher's demand

Fletcher's letter said it is apparent that the President considers the members of the senate and house as only incidentally his audience and that he will be addressing himself to the electorate as a part of his campaign for re-election."

Fletcher's demand was for radio time on the same terms as are accorded the President. The latter's message will be broadcast without charge, radio officials said.

Warns Against Control

The Republican chairman said that unless the opposition party be granted equal facilities the dominant party can control the instrumentalities of communication in an effort to perpetuate itself in

NBC OFFERS CHAIN FROM TIME TO TIME

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Jan 4—M H. Aylesworth of the National Broadcasting Co today telegraphed Chairman Henry P Fletcher of the Republican national committee an offer of N B C's facilities from time to time to respond to radio addresses which Fletcher characterized as Democratic political propaganda lower he told the radio companies that if you grant my request it will demonstrate that you are in no way influenced by fear of the party in power

Fletcher recalled that only once before has a President spoken at a special night session—President Wilson's war message

Congress will meet at noon tomorrow to attend the preliminaries and arrange the night session Next week it will get down to business with two major issues apparently slated for quick consideration.

They are the bonus and neutrality.

Refuse To Pass

"The President's decision to dramatize his message and to bring down to the level of a political speech his constitutional right and duty to address the congress on the state of the Union is understandable in the light of past performances Fletcher said

"It is apparent, therefore, that the President considers the members of the senate and the house as only incidentally his audience and that he will be addressing himself to the electorate as a part of his campaign for re-election. Of course, he has a perfect right to do so if the congress sets aside the

CINCINNATI MINUS MAYOR IN NEW POLITICAL FIGHT

Rev H S Bigelow, Fr. Coughlin Follower, Blocks Move To Name Successor to Wilson

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 2—Cincinnati claimant of the title of "the best governored city" sailed an uncharted, uncertain political course today minus a mayor and with the decision on its future resting with Rev Herbert S. Bigelow, a follower of Rev Charles E. Coughlin Detroit radio priest.

For the first time in the 104-year history of charter government here the city was without a titular head Mayor Russell Wilson left office when his term expired automatically yesterday and through 15 ballots Rev Bigelow Iona independent member of council deadlocked efforts to name a successor

Won't Break Tie

Four charterites voted for Wilson four Republicans cast their ballot for James G Stewart temporary chairman of the meeting while Bigelow the ninth member nominated and voted for himself New fights loomed on the horizon

Although personally not a subject of criticism City Manager C A Dykstra was the target of an economy move An ordinance to reduce his salary from $20,000 to $10,000 yearly was introduced by Bigelow Neither Dykstra nor his office was an issue of the pre-election campaigns. Another ordinance would abolish the office of safety director recently vacated by Fred R Koehler

Expect Wilson's Return

Charter members in control of city affairs since the advent of home rule in 1926 expressed confidence that Wilson would be returned as mayor when council meets Monday They admitted privately however Stewart's selection as temporary chairman might endanger their chances

Bigelow leader here of Fr Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice advocate of municipal utilities ownership and of extension of TVA power to larger cities admitted he had a bargain to make with no preference between charterites and Republicans

He said he wished to be chairman of the public utilities committee council failing that he should like to be on the committee and base Councilman Nicholas Klein a Republican as a fellow member

Expects Major Battle

Bigelow explained his committee desires by saying he looked forward "to the time when the gas company will put the heat on this committee. Reasonable pleas and assurances of cooperation now may not be sufficient then."

Charter councilmen unanimously rejected a proposal by Klein that Stewart and Wilson "toss a coin for the mayorship which is little more than an honorary office carrying with it the presidency of the council, and the job of "official greeter" at ceremonies and conventions.

LIGHTS VANISH WITH NEW YEAR GREETING

Welcoming Shot Envelops Party Guests In Darkness

One Marion residents New Years eve celebration ended abruptly at the stroke of midnight Tuesday night when a charge ho fired from a shotgun to herald the arrival of 1936 extinguished the lights at his home

Gun in hand William Cowan of 901 East Church street a C D & M Electric Co lineman stepped out on his front porch three minutes before midnight prepared to contribute his bit in rousing a welcome to the new year Behind him were members of his family and guests at a watch party held at his home

He pointed his gun in the air and awaited the tolling of the bells The first shot split the electric service wire leading to the house plunging it in darkness

The mishap was particularly distressing to Mr Cowan as he was on call for service work Tuesday night and had hoped nothing would turn up to take him from his post As it was it became necessary for him to go after his service truck and repair the damage his direct hit had done Meanwhile his guests waited in darkness while the repairs were made

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If it's sluggish and not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and at 'em." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

NEW FIGURE ENTERS HAUPTMANN CASE

Lawyers Checking Up on Unidentified Man Whom They Link with Fisch.

By The Associated Press

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 2—Bruno Hauptmann's lawyers injected an unidentified man into the Lindbergh kidnap-killing today, disclosing they were checking a story that the man and the late Isador Fisch were associated in crime.

The latest move in defense efforts to keep Hauptmann from the electric chair, the week of Jan. 13, developed on the first anniversary of the opening of his Flemington trial.

"We are investigating a lead," said Attorney Frederick A. Pope. The counsel for the convicted slayer of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. declined to disclose the identity or whereabouts, if known, of the new figure.

Pope said the defense "wouldn't go so far as to say" that pictures of the man and his name would be pronounced before the New Jersey court of pardons when Hauptmann's plea for clemency is presented. Such a move was reported under contemplation.

At his trial, Hauptmann testified he received the Lindbergh ransom bills found in his home from Fisch, his former business partner.

Fisch died in Germany before the trial. His sister testified for the state that he arrived in Germany virtually without funds.

Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, a member of the court of pardons, was expected to fix today a date for hearing Hauptmann's plea for clemency.

ETHIOPIANS' MAJOR OFFENSIVE CHECKED

unit. It termed an "odious lie" an Italian charge that two Fascist aviators who fell at Dagnah Bur were decapitated.

Informed sources in Rome said the Italian government does not consider necessary explanations to Sweden concerning the bombing. Travelers in a war zone, Fascists said, must necessarily take risks. They added that the beheading of the Fascist aviators by Ethiopian troops, which the government cited to justify the aerial attack, was witnessed by other fliers from the air.

Claim Only One Caught

The Stefani (official Italian) News Agency related only one pilot, Tito Minniti, was captured and beheaded by the Ethiopians.

The Ethiopian government, which through Emperor Haile Selassie, had protested to the League of Nations that the Fascists employed poison gas in the attack, announced, in a final report of the incident near Dolo that only two Swedes were wounded and none killed.

The casualties, said a communique issued at the Ethiopian capital, Addis Ababa, were 28 injured Ethiopians being treated in a Swedish ambulance. The Italian bombs killed them and, it was estimated by Addis Ababa officials, injured at least 50 Ethiopian men nurses.

Public resentment arose in Stockholm. Prince Carl called a meeting of the Swedish Red Cross to consider the case. Sweden's Red Cross was reported reliably to take the view that the Fascist aerial attacks, directed first at an American hospital at Dessye and then at the Swedish Red Cross unit in the south, were intended for the Red Cross.

League To Discuss Matter

The whole question of aerial bombardments, particularly attacks on Red Cross medical units, appeared in Geneva to be a likely topic for discussion by the league council Jan. 20 or sooner.

The Italian government rested its defense on the bombardment on the allegation it was "fully justified" by what it asserted was the beheading of two Italian aviators by Ethiopians. A communique issued at Rome commented: "The Italian planes did not mean to bomb tents of the Swedish Red Cross or other Red Crosses."

Swedish newspapers asserted Italian airmen had seen members of the Red Cross unit waving Swedish flags to attract their attention to sparing the location before the attack was launched on nearby Ethiopian troops. Informed sources in Stockholm said Sweden's Red Cross was ready to send a greater, improved unit to Ethiopia to replace the one described by Emperor Haile Selassie as destroyed.

HOLIDAY PROGRAM CONTINUES AT "Y"

Games and Gym Class Sessions Scheduled.

FLETCHER DEMANDS G.O.P. TIME ON RADIO

time it wishes to receive the message.

"We are not objecting to the program outlined, but merely requesting an equal opportunity to place our case before the people with the same facilities, the same stations and, potentially, the same audience.

Wants Both Sides

"The political character of the speeches by members of the administration over the radio should be recognized for what they are. Both sides of the vital current issues should be presented to the American jury for their own judgment.

"Unless the party in opposition be granted equal facilities the dominant party can control the instrumentalities of communication in an effort to perpetuate itself in power."

Radio officials said the President's speech would be broadcast without charge.

Dismissed by Cabinet

Earlier, it was learned on high authority, that the night session, to follow perfunctory formal openings at noon in each house, was considered of such significance that it was discussed at last Friday's cabinet meeting.

The fact that neutrality may come in for discussion in the President's message Friday night stirred memories of that dramatic occasion on April 2, 1917, when President Wilson made the only other executive address to a joint night session of congress. Wilson had much to say about the futility of America's neutrality policy then.

All members roared cheer after cheer in an outburst of patriotic enthusiasm, Wilson urged congress then to declare a state of war existing between the United States and Germany. He said neutrality no longer was feasible or desirable where the peace of the world was involved.

Chamber To Be Filled

When President Roosevelt ascends the same rostrum Friday before a battery of microphones, which in Wilson's time were but engineering fancies, he will face a capacity-taxed chamber, with senators and representatives and members of the cabinet seated in an oval well rimmed above by galleries. There will be sealed the hundreds fortunate enough to obtain special admission cards.

The senate will convene shortly before 9 a. m. Then, escorted by Edwin A. Halsey, secretary, and Chesley W. Jurney, sergeant-at-arms, the senators will march in double file down a 700-foot corridor to the larger house chamber.

OFFICERS ON TRIP TO GET PRISONER

Prosecutor and Deputy Sheriff Go to North Carolina for Man Held as Robber.

Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel and Deputy Sheriff W. H. Willis left last night for Greensboro, N. C. to obtain custody of Earl W. DeBruhl accused of breaking into the Pure Oil Co. bulk plant here last August.

The prosecutor and deputy carried extradition papers issued by Gov. Davey last week for return of the prisoner to Marion. Prosecutor Michel expected to be able to present the application to the governor of North Carolina Friday or Saturday, and if the extradition is granted, to be able to start back here shortly afterward.

DeBruhl is accused of being one of two men who looted the oil company bulk plant and then engaged in a battle and chase with city policemen on the Agosta road. The two men were sought over a wide territory west of here the following day in the county's greatest manhunt.

Sheriff B. Lamonds driver and owner of the truck used by the two men, is serving a term in Mansfield reformatory. He pleaded guilty after his arrest in North Carolina and his return here. DeBruhl, according to Greensboro officers, was arrested there recently on a liquor charge.

$389,973.92 SPENT BY LIBERTY LEAGUE

Du Ponts, Raskob, Sloan and New York Bank Listed as Main Contributors.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 — The American Liberty league today reported expenditures totaling $389,973.92 and a balance on hand for the new year of $83,201.54 in a statement filed with the clerk of the house.

The report filed by R. J. Dillon, controller of the league, listed receipts amounting to $483,276.46. Largest contributors were the Du Pont family of Wilmington, Del., who provided $188,200 in loans and contributions. The league has been a leading new deal critic.

The Bankers Trust Co., of New York made a $20,000 loan to the league last April 29.

The report today covered the calendar year 1935.

Jouett Shouse, president of the league, was reported to have received $61,000 during the year in salary, travel and incidental expenses.

William C. Murphy Jr., director of publicity received $1,166.66 a month and his assistant, William Kerby, $458.33 a month.

John J. Raskob, former Democratic national chairman, aided the league with $15,000, of which $10,000 was a loan.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., head of General Motors also loaned the league $10,000 and contributed $5,000 to its campaign, as did E. T. Weir, of Pittsburgh.

SCHORR OPPOSITION TO BORAH FLAYED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 2—Roscoe C. McCulloch, leader of a Senator Borah for president movement in Ohio, hinted today at a "hidden motive in the stand of the Republican state committee to bar outsiders from the state's presidential primary.

Ed D. Schorr, G. O. P. state chairman, said Tuesday a campaign by Sen. Borah to win Ohio delegates at the party's national convention would precipitate "a vicious fight and will certainly injure the chances for Republican success in Ohio."

McCulloch, former United States senator and active in the Idaho senator's behalf, replied to Schorr in a formal statement:

"There should be no bitterness in a contest that gives the people a chance for unrestrained individual expression of preferences as provided by the Constitution and the laws of Ohio, unless there is some hidden motive to be served."

OHIO BRIDE FEARED VICTIM OF KIDNAPERS

By The Associated Press

MARTINS FERRY, O., Jan. 2—Authorities advanced a theory today that Mrs. Ruth Starbuck, 33-year-old bride of six months, had been kidnaped.

She disappeared from her home in nearby Tiverton on Tuesday, leaving her hat and compact in the snow outside her home. Her husband, Clinton, said his wife had been subject to fainting spells.

An automobile seen near the Starbuck home after the bride disappeared was the object of a search by state highway patrolmen.

WYANDOT COUNTY ALLOTTED $1,894.91

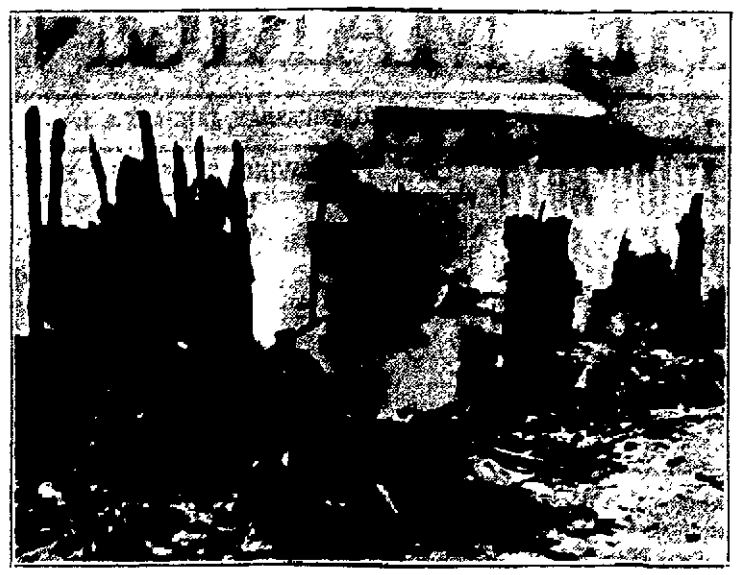
By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 2—State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy distributed $1,470,000 in sales tax revenues to the various counties today for local government uses. It was the final distribution for 1935. The allotments included $1,894.91 for Wyandot county.

CITY BRIEFS

Chimney Afire — Firemen from No. 1 company were called at 11:12 a. m. today to the M. J. Klingel residence at 182 Court land terrace, where a chimney burned out. Neighbors on St. James street saw the smoke and summoned the fire department.

ITALIAN BOMBING PLANES LEAVE DESSYE IN RUINS



Charred, smoking ruins were left in the wake of a fleet of nine Italian planes which bombed the Ethiopian city of Dessye in the hope of killing Emperor Haile Selassie, who had established headquarters there. An American hospital was included in buildings destroyed. Ruins of a group of native huts are shown in this picture, taken by an Associated Press staff photographer who witnessed the terrific bombing. (Associated Press Photo)

Strain and Stress Beset Government and Industry

Relief and Budget Disputes Added to Havoc Caused by Floods and Strikes.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 2—Storm and strife—in nature, government and industry—beset Ohio in 1935.

Clouds of controversy often obscured the processes of state government, and became fog-barriers on the road of industry. Lashing storms and widespread floods undid much of the slow work of man in many sections eastern Ohio especially.

But at the end of it all, Col. Leonard P. Ayres of the Cleveland Federal Reserve bank, one of the state's leading economists, reported business sentiment and general confidence at their best since the long depression began. Christmas shoppers thronged in greater numbers and spent more money than in years; and the state treasurer reported Ohio sound financially.

Davey Starts Fireworks

Controversy in government began almost with the day Martin L. Davey became Ohio's new governor. His repeated criticism of "waste and inefficiency" in administration of relief in Ohio grew into a demand that the federal government take over the whole job, rather than have responsibility divided between state and nation. President Roosevelt ordered that step on March 16, but the order brought the governor a letter from Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, charging "shakedown" by Davey campaign workers of firms and persons who sold to the state relief administration.

The governor shouted "libel," swore out a warrant against Hopkins then dropped the charges, when Hopkins came to Ohio. Davey said his purpose had been served.

Democratic legislators demanded that Hopkins "right the wrong done our governor" and withdraw his "gratuitous insult." The legislature as a whole ordered an investigation that cleared the governor.

Stillman Handles Relief

C. C. Stillman, Ohio State university professor, took hold as federal relief administrator in Ohio, and revamped the state relief setup. In October with his organization complete and relief rolls shrinking, he turned over the task to Dr. Carl Watson, former state Democratic chairman.

Preston E. Thomas, who beat off a dozen investigations in the 22 years he was warden of Ohio penitentiary, lost his job before the first month of Davey's administration was out. The governor suspended Thomas, ejected his family from the prison and filed 18 charges against him. Still fighting, Thomas won reinstatement April 19, but only on condition he resign effective May 1. The charges against him were dismissed and Thomas' deputy, J. C. Woodard, became warden. Davey later named new heads to three other penal institutions.

Two days after Gov. Davey dismissed him as chief of the state liquor enforcement division, Edmond G. Mathews shot and killed himself in his Columbus home.

Names Survey Group

Other steps to revise the administrative machinery of the state were no more serene. Praise for the step showering upon him, the governor named a commission of business executives—serving without pay—to study the state functions and suggest ways and means of saving money. He named Col. C. O. Sherrill, former Cincinnati city manager, to head the investigations on Feb. 4.

But before the commission—named the Ohio government survey—had completed its work, the governor had charged it had "broken faith" with him by injecting politics into its publicity releases.

He called some of the surveys estimated savings of upwards of $16,000,000 impracticable in a political government and said that any way he had covered much of the ground in vetoing appropriations of $8,753,000 in the budget submitted to him by the legislature in June.

Organize Permanently

The business men organized permanently under the leadership of D. C. Keller of Cincinnati to add force to their recommendations, while others began a "no new taxes" drive.

A direct outgrowth of the budget vetoes was months of squabbling between the governor and Ohio State university over sums allotted to it. There was penny-pinching, too, in state offices after the supreme court ruled the state control board could not shift funds around to fill gaps cut by the veto ax. The governor himself stumped the state in April, asking public subscriptions to buy him a new office rug. He got the rug a few months ago though the end of the year found the biennial budget tangle far from unscrambled.

Nor was politics more peaceful. Rep. Charles V. Truax died in Washington Aug. 10 and the governor announced he would call no special election. Acrimony seethed until the supreme court upheld him Oct. 28.

A stiff battle for the 1936 Democratic nomination for governor loomed, then fauled. Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati announced his candidacy Nov. 25, withdrew 11 days later. John W. Bricker, attorney general, meantime ruled as the probable nominee of the Republican party.

Ohio's Federation of Labor in August rejected proposals for a third party movement.

Industrial troubles of 1934 lapped over into 1935, though perhaps with markedly lessened intensity. The state supreme court threw out Ohio's recovery legislation.

Strikes Numerous

Strikes followed in abundance. Biggest but most peaceful was that of 30,000 Ohio coal miners participating in a national walkout Sept. 23, ended Sept. 26.

From the 1934 drouth nature swung to the other extreme July was one of the wettest months Ohio has known in years. Rain fell day after day. Water soaked the earth, piled up behind dams. On July 4 cloudbursts turned holiday into horror in Knox and Belmont counties. Severe wind and hailstorms lashed the state 12 days later. Southwestern Ohio saw torrents carry off small buildings, livestock, crops.

On July 29 a five-foot wall of water crashed down the Hocking valley sweeping almost all before it. One death, property damage of $1,000,000 was counted in Fairfield and Hocking counties.

On Aug. 4 floods again poured over eastern Ohio, and estimates of the damage rose to $8,000,000 in carefully tended crops and precious livestock. Two lives were lost. Some points saw rain of seven to more than nine inches in a single night.

The year saw the development of fruits of drives on gangdom in 1934. The major crime was the $72,000 holdup of a mail truck at Warren April 24.

Other dates in Ohio's 1935:

Jan. 1—John A. Elden, 42, former American Legion state commander, killed in Cleveland auto crash.

Jan. 22—Dynamite bomb found in Cleveland terminal; crank blamed.

Feb. 15—Ohio State university announced development million-volt generator.

Feb. 18—Cleveland hospital announced apparently successful operation on human heart for aging pectoris.

Feb. 21—Three men, arrested on fraud charges in obtaining bids for construction of Portsmouth post-office; later indicted, they appeal.

INHALATOR CHILD GROWING STRONGER

Baby Saved by Firemen To Leave Hospital.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gates of 308 Edwards street was to be taken home from the City hospital this afternoon, following a three-day treatment to save the child's life with the use of oxygen.

The child was taken to the hospital Monday, after firemen worked an hour and 15 minutes with an inhalator, pumping oxygen into its lungs.

Hospital attaches reported this morning that the child "had spent a restful night and its condition was fair." At the hospital oxygen was supplied to the child intermittently during the treatment.

100 SPORTSMEN IN MILK FUND SHOOT

field, Cardington, Agosta, Prospect, Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus, Richwood and Tiffin were among the contestants.

Mrs. Miley this morning said the King's Daughters planned to make the proceeds of the shoot finance milk fund activities for a year if possible. Beneficiaries of this phase of the King's Daughters work are children between the ages of two years and school age who are members of families in which there is tuberculosis or threat of it. Most of the 30 children the organization has helped in the last two years were given milk at the recommendation of Miss Alma Denney, county tuberculosis nurse.

Previous Club Donation

She said the gun club in a previous benefit shoot held in 1934 turned over $101 to the milk fund and this money had financed most of the fund activities since then.

One of the largest groups of women ever active in a club shoot here took part in yesterday's competition. Scores ranged from two to seven targets broken out of 10. The top score was made by Mrs. Kreicher of Toledo with seven.

Other women who won one or more prizes are Mrs. Melvin Vogt of Tiffin, Mrs. Fred Stuckey of Upper Sandusky, Mrs. W. T. Owen of Marion township, Mrs. Zoe Luvisi of Marion, Mrs. Miller of Marion and Miss Valeska Rush of Marion.

Permanent waves, manicures and groceries were among the prizes for which the women competed. Other prizes included an electric iron, one and one-half tons of coal, gasoline, cleaning and pressing orders.

A special 25-target event for which a $10 cash prize was offered was entered by 10 shooters. Daniel Bittinger of Genoa took the first prize with 25 straight targets. Four men, Melvin Vogt of Tiffin, H. E. Pace of Mansfield, Fred Stuckey of Upper Sandusky and H. A. Lauer of Prospect were in a four-way tie for second money with 24 targets each. Lots were drawn and second money went to Mr. Vogt, third to Mr. Stuckey.

The gun club will hold its annual election of officers Saturday night at 7:30 in the municipal court room. W. T. Owen is president and E. H. Huggins is secretary.

ROAD SAFETY DRIVE MAKES POOR START

Only 5 Per Cent Drop in Number of Fatal Accidents on New Year's Day Cited.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—Safety campaigns designed to reduce the 1936 automobile mortality total on the nation's highways by 35 per cent got away to a poor start on New Year's day.

Statistics compiled today showed at least 93 persons died in automobile accidents yesterday compared with 98 on Jan. 1, 1935, or a drop of slightly better than 5 per cent. The figures were incomplete and unofficial.

No reports were received from six states—Idaho, Kentucky, Nevada, North and South Dakota and Virginia.

On the states reporting 12 and the District of Columbia showed a reduction in fatalities over figures for a year ago, 11 had increases, 15 gave unchanged totals and the other four failed to return comparative totals.

Fifteen states and the District of Columbia had clean records of no automobile deaths on New Year's day this year. A year ago only 14 states were without traffic deaths.

Illinois motorists led all other states with 13 reported deaths, 11 in Cook county (Chicago) and two downstate. Michigan was second with 11, followed by Pennsylvania 10, California eight and Connecticut and Missouri with six each. Ohio reported only two deaths.

The National Safety council has enlisted the aid of officials of most states and numerous other organizations to slash automobile deaths in 1936.

GLASS UNION CLAIMS 5,000-6,000 STRIKING

Leader Says All Men Are Out and No Immediate Compromise Expected.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 2—National President Glen W. Mc[illegible] of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers said today that a strike involving eight independent factories and 5,000 to 6,000 workers was "100 per cent effective."

"I have received notices from every point that all the men are out," he said. "Everything is peaceable and there has been no trouble.

"There is little hope of a compromise, at least for the present."

Union members struck Dec. 31 at midnight when a one-year agreement between the union and producers expired. Factories affected are located at Arnold, Belle Vernon, Jeannette and Fairchance, Pa., Sistersville, W. Va., Okmulgee, Okla., and Fort Smith, Ark.

McCabe said the workers demanded a closed shop in addition to a 7½ per cent wage increase. He said some of the operators had offered 5 per cent increases with other concessions and had been refused.

MRS. TALMADGE ALSO SNUBS FIRST LADY

Declines White House Invitation on Heels of Similar Action by Al Smith.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 2—Mrs Eugene Talmadge today joined Alfred E. Smith in declining a White House invitation, reporting that her Telfair county cotton plantation demanded attention.

"I have to get my farm started on the 1936 crops," the wife of Georgia's anti-new deal governor explained. "The first few weeks of the year are a busy time."

Mrs Roosevelt invited her to visit the White House the afternoon of Jan. 8, the day before a Washington meeting of the national Democratic executive committee, to which the governor had himself appointed after the death of Maj. John S. Cohen, a new deal supporter.

Talmadge announced he would attend the meeting.

Mrs Talmadge acted upon her invitation by taking light, a winter storm having severed electrical connections to the executive mansion.

TALL WEATHER TALE WINS FIB CONTEST

Chicagoan Tells of Sudden Mercury Fall Which Killed Rat in His Home.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—A tale of thermometric mercury which fell so fast and hard it killed a rat won Jim Jordan of Chicago the 1936 grand championship of all liars yesterday.

Jordan, a professional entertainer, outclassed an international field in the annual Arabian Sweepstakes of the Burlington, Wis., Liars club, announced here for the second successive year. The tall tale derby started as a local Burlington event in 1928.

It was an unusual dilemma Jordan, known to radio fans for his portrayal of "Fibber McGee," recounted to win the alleged diamond studded medal offered by the club.

It went as follows:

"Two years ago the weather was so cold it drove a rat into our house for shelter.

"Do whatever I would, I could not catch it even with cleverly baited traps. Finally I hit upon the idea.

"'The cold drove you in,' said I to myself, and 'the cold will catch you.'

"I brought in our largest thermometer, putting a big piece of cheese beneath it.

"The next morning I had Mr. Rat.

"The mercury had fallen so low during the night that it had pinned him to the floor."

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Sinus Disease.

THERE ARE many persons who complain about being afflicted with "sinusitis." Some of them, I fear, are unfamiliar with the exact meaning of the term. Suppose I tell you that sinusitis really is and how to avoid it.

Sinus disease or sinusitis, as it is more commonly called, is an inflammation of the nasal sinuses. These are cavities, air cells, in the bones of the head. They connect with the inside of the nose by means of small openings.

Under normal circumstances no germs are found in the sinuses. Frequently, however, the germs of a simple head cold may reach the sinuses. This is apt to be the case if a cold is neglected, or the sufferer is in run-down condition.

The germs easily reach a sinus and since its interior is moist and rapidly multiply. One or more sinuses may become infected in this manner. Pus quickly forms. This produces pressure and may result in severe headache and pain in the face.

Pain is not always present in sinus disease. But pus from these cavities may be carried to other parts of the body. This will lead to disturbances elsewhere. The pus may drop into the throat and then enter the stomach.

This center of infection is frequently responsible for disease of the chest, as well as for asthma, arthritis and other disturbances. In children sinusitis may affect the eyes, brain, or lungs.

Sinusitis should never be allowed to become chronic. Sometimes nasal packs are sufficient to cure the disease in its early stages. In the most severe cases surgical measures may become necessary.

Since colds and infections of other parts of the breathing machinery promote sinusitis, it is important to give prompt attention to every such ailment, to head off trouble in the nasal sinuses. To this end avoid those persons who have colds and coughs. If possible keep away from crowded and poorly ventilated places.

Improve your resistance against colds by proper hygiene. Get plenty of fresh air and sunlight, adequate hours of sleep and rest, as well as a moderate amount of exercise every day. Include in your diet an abundance of fresh fruits, vegetables, cereals, butter, cream, milk and eggs. These are rich in vitamins and other valuable food substances. They help to ward off colds, coughs, sinusitis and other infections.

TRIBUTE TO ROGERS WINS AT PASADENA

Giant Gold Star and Riderless Horse Signify Nation's Loss by Humorist's Death.

By The Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 2—History which reached from the death of Will Rogers back into the centuries was told brilliantly by flower-decked floats in the annual Tournament of Roses yesterday.

The weather, always a threat to the New Year's day spectacle, turned clear and warm. Millions of flowers nodded in the sun as the procession moved along the flag-draped thoroughfares.

More than a million persons witnessed the spectacle. One man dropped dead and approximately 100 men and women, most of them elderly, fainted along the sidewalks and parkways.

A tribute to Will Rogers won the grand prize award. A giant gold star from which extended blue white rays in flowers, was emblematic of America's loss. A white horse, saddled but riderless, signified the humorist-actor's unfinished work. It was entered by an oil company.

The courtship of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette in the gardens of Versailles, told by South Pasadena's float, took the sweepstakes prize. Thousands of roses, narcissus, lilies of the valley, sweet peas, stock, larkspur, delphinium and stevia were fashioned into peacocks and fountains which served as the background for brilliantly-costumed figures.

COLDS ARE NOW REACHING OUT FOR VICTIMS!

Be Wise—Be Careful—Adopt This Simple Precautionary Measure!

Colds are increasing. In some sections Influenza is breaking out. Don't be alarmed, but don't be careless.

A cold is much easier avoided than cured! Do the sensible thing and adopt the ounce of prevention policy. Stay out of crowds as much as you can. Avoid coughers and sneezers. Dress warmly, keep your feet dry and sleep in a well-ventilated room.

Every morning and night take one or two Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets. This will keep the bowels open and combat infection.

Millions know Bromo Quinine as an excellent cold treatment, but not enough know it as an equally excellent preventive. Learn its efficacy and keep a package handy all winter long as your "safety first" measure.

If you have already caught cold there is nothing better you can take than Bromo Quinine. It doesn't merely suppress the cold—it helps drive it out of the system. At the same time, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

For more than forty years, Bromo Quinine has been the largest selling cold tablet in the world. For more than forty years it has been the standby of thousands in treating a cold.

Ask for it by the full name and look for the initials L B Q stamped on every tablet. The cost is small, but the protection is large.

FIRST "BLOOD TEST" WEDDING PERFORMED

Physician's Certificate Filed Before Marriage of Couple Under Connecticut Law.

By The Associated Press

GREENWICH, Conn., Jan. 2—Miss Mary Elizabeth Brown and Oliver W. Huckel, New York artist, were married yesterday in what was believed to be the first wedding performed in Connecticut under its new marriage blood test law.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott L. Brown.

Rev. Oliver Huckel, father of the bridegroom, married the couple.

Under the new law applicants for a marriage license must submit to a blood test and file with the town clerk a physician's certificate of health before they are permitted to wed.

traffic accidents for the 52 weeks ended Dec. 21 were at a rate of 23.4 per 100,000 population, compared with 24.2 per 100,000 in the comparable 1934 period.

The total killed in these cities in the 1935 period was 8,751 against 9,042 in the 52 weeks of 1934.

The lowest mortality rate in the 1935 period was 9.5 in San Francisco. In 1934, San Francisco was lowest with 8.2.

The highest rate in 1935 was 74.7 in Camden, N. J. The highest 1934 rate also was in Camden with 71.3. All these figures include deaths from accidents occurring both inside the city limits, and in the suburbs.

The Stars Say--

For Friday, Jan. 3

A DAY OF excellent prospects for advancement and progress is forecast from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects, although this may involve certain hazards of upheaval, change and rearrangement of plans and desires. A radical change may best promote these ambitions, although it should be wisely and conservatively managed. If concerned with established employment, there are fine prospects of support, preferment and favors of employers or superiors. Elders favor also and old deals may bring benefits, but be cautious with rings, mergers and secret bodies.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of fine opportunity for advancement, promotion and progress, although this may call for a radical change.

A child born on this day may be brilliant, versatile and inventive, but may travel far, benefiting through insurance legacies.

AGE PENSION CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS

Officers will be named for the next six months at a meeting of the Marion Townsend club No. 1, Friday night at Central Junior High school auditorium.

The meeting will open at 7:30 for the reception of members and the program hour and business session will be held at 8. Emil Baada of Toledo, official organizer for the Eighth congressional district, will be the speaker. Members having Townsend petitions in circulation are asked to bring them to this meeting, the president, Addison Bain, announced.

Ohio 'Lion Hunt' Takes New Turn With Hog Killed

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 2—Hamilton county's "lion hunt" took new turns today with the reported killing of an 85-pound hog, and discovery of "large, padded foot tracks" in the same general area to the east of the city.

Oscar Rabe, of suburban Mount Washington, warned children to stay out of a wooded patch in the residential section, after reporting footprints "three or four inches long and wide." Several "half-eaten" pigeons were close by, Rabe said.

Dr. Harry Miller, of nearby Plainville, said an 85-pound hog had been killed and part of the carcass consumed. Captain of County Police Charles Coddington, scouting a suggestion that the "lion" is a dog, said portions of the hog which no dog would eat had been devoured.

Coddington, who since Tuesday has led a "safari" against the lion—if any—reported tracks "distinctly showing a pad and claws" had been found in Miami Grove, not far away.

All three communities are within two or three miles of each other.

Late yesterday it appeared the mystery of the lion's origin might be solved when Mrs. Thomas Cornby said she believed the animal belonged to Morris Day, a taxidermist in Hamlet, O., 20 miles east of Cincinnati.

Day, however, according to Sheriff Garland Auxier of adjacent Clermont county, killed his lion a week ago.

Al Baker, a bus driver, and William Holtke, captain of police in suburban Andaco, first reported contact with the animal.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mild and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache caused by constipation—you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them to keep right. Try them, 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

PENNER AND OAKIE MUSICAL PICTURE FULL OF LAUGHS

"Collegiate," a musical film that is long on comedy, long on pretty girls, long on singing and dancing, and short on dull moments, opened a four-day run at the Palace theater yesterday.

This new bit of Paramount nonsense stars Jack Oakie and Joe Penner, and features in the excellent supporting cast Ned Sparks, Frances Langford, Betty Grable and Lynne Overman.

Unheralded with advance publicity, "Collegiate" slipped into Marion packed with more genuine entertainment values than many of the more widely three-sheeted musical pictures with big-name casts. Like in most musicals the story that "Collegiate" tells is rather flimsy and acts as a background for the comedy talents of Messrs. Oakie, Penner, Overman and Sparks.

Oakie is a young waster who inherits a girls' school from his wealthy aunt, and is permitted to sell it only if he operates it at a profit for a period of one year. Hitch-hiking their way to the school he and his partners, Sparks and Overman, run across Joe Penner, the young burlesque comic who became radio's foremost duck salesman. Penner, who is dough heavy, is suffering from amnesia and joins the boys as a partner in the school. Through Oakie's management the schools drops its air of dowdiness and begins to teach the girls how to be charming—crammming them with singing and dancing lessons, and remodeling their faces and manner of dress. The boys almost come to grief when a few of Penner's checks threaten to bounce, but all ends well, with Oakie winding up in the arms of Frances Langford, radio songbird, and Penner courting blond Betty Grable.

Oakie and Penner, both of whom have worlds of natural comedy ability, are excellent in the lead, and better supporting players never graced the Paramount lot. This Frances Langford has plenty "on the ball" and Ned Sparks and Lynne Overman were their usual competent selves. Betty Grable turns in a great performance in a secondary role.

Just about 48 per cent of the success of "Collegiate" belongs to Mack Gordon and Harry Revel for their tunes that dot the film, and to Betty Jane Cooper, tap dancer. Youse guys can have your Eleanor Powells and your Ruby Keelers and this reporter'll take Miss Cooper for his dancing. She has everything and some to spare. Gordon and Revel's tunes are swell and Oakie does a neat job with one of them in an impersonation of Al Jolson.

"Collegiate" and the short subjects that accompany it are highly recommended. —G. H. M.

SAUCE FOR THE GANDER

Face-lifting has enabled many a woman of 40 to look like 20—and to make a fool of herself all over again.

Just at this moment many a man is afraid to undress in the locker-room of his club because he is so decked out in his wife's Christmas gifts that he looks like a yacht on a holiday.

The main difference between an unmarried woman and a married woman, says Rene Ruth, is that one longs for the impossible—and the other thinks that she has married it.

Next to knowing when to stop talking, the average husband believes that his surest way of preserving the peace is to know when to stop listening.

Ever since Adam awoke from a beautiful dream with a pain in his side and found Eve there, the chief cause of man's insomnia has been a woman.

A girl should be extremely careful about setting her mind on the kind of man she wants to marry; because, according to the psychologists, what she really wants, she will get.

A woman may have been married to a playboy, a philanderer or a wife-beater; but she has not tasted the ultimate suffering until she has been married, at least once, to a window-shade snapper-upper.

Reno beckons when the incorrigible philanderer meets the incurable married-girl.

Every foreign country has its national type of beauty; but, in spite of all our famous illustrators, there is no distinct type of American Girl. The only way to describe her is as "the sort of girl that every foreigner wants to marry."

FINDLAY SCHOOLS FACE MAJOR CRISIS

By The Associated Press

FINDLAY, O., Jan. 2—Findlay schools, with Christmas vacations already extended indefinitely, confronted the possibility of a drastically curtailed program today unless a special three-mill tax voted Jan. 21. The proposed levy, for one year, may be approved by a bare majority. School board members said funds were sufficient for only two of the five remaining months and cancelled all basketball games after Jan. 4

MAN KILLS HIMSELF

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 2—The body of a man who apparently killed himself because he was friendless and alone lay unclaimed in a morgue today. Coroner Edward E. Smith gave a verdict of suicide when police found Joseph Zrelcz shot dead under a downtown bridge. A note beside him read: "I came here suddenly, unknown for nobody."

RICHWOOD FUND DRIVE PLANNED

$200 Sought for Salvation Army Outpost.

A campaign to raise $200 to carry on activities of the Salvation Army outpost at Richwood will be opened Friday at that place by Envoy George Criswell of Findlay. A part of the funds will be used to establish an army band in Richwood. Envoy Criswell conducted a financial campaign at Richwood last year when funds were raised to redecorate the army chapel on East Blagrove street. He will preach tonight at the chapel.

CITY GETS MONEY FROM BOND ISSUE

$125,500 Received To Wipe Out Operating Deficit Up to Jan. 1, 1935.

The way for payment of the city's operating deficits prior to Jan. 1, 1935 was cleared Tuesday when a $125,500 issue of deficiency bonds was delivered to the purchasers and the money credited to the accounts of the city.

The bonds were taken to Cleveland by Clarence A. Bolin, Frank Weber and Kennth Tobin whose terms as mayor, city auditor and city treasurer respectively, expired Tuesday midnight. Mr. Bolin and Mr. Weber signed the bonds just before they were delivered and Mr. Tobin received a certificate that the money had been placed to the city's credit.

Delivery of the bonds was made to the federal reserve bank in Cleveland as agent for the Cincinnati bankers of the bond house of Van Lahr, Doll & Ipshording, Inc. which purchased the issue.

City Auditor J. Luther Landes today said he is familiarizing himself with the details of the issue and the accounts to be paid from its proceeds before drawing vouchers to pay the overdue bills.

TWO WOMEN HURT IN FALLS AT HOMES

Two Marion county women were injured in falls at their homes early this week.

Mrs. A. W. Cook of 330 West Church street suffered a fracture of her left leg when she slipped and fell on the steps while entering her home last Monday. X-ray examinations later revealed the fracture. Her leg has been placed in a cast and she is confined to her home.

Mrs. M. L. Tilton of near Green Camp fractured her left hip New Years eve when she slipped and fell at her home. Yesterday morning she was brought to the City hospital where her leg was placed in a cast.

MANSFIELD AIRPORT PROJECT APPROVED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 2—Obstructions works progress administration officials received notice today of approval by Comptroller McCarl in Washington of a $130,000 grant for a Mansfield airport project.

The Ohio WPA said certain phases of the project remain to be clarified before it will receive state approval.

Ohio officials were unable to say when any action would be taken on it here They said the project would follow the regular channels.

Pittsburgh scientists have found that their city rises and falls from 12 to 32 inches daily because of the effect of the moon in causing tides in the earth.

Thunderer.

Premier Mussolini may not meet American requirements for political leadership, yet it would be niggardly to withhold from him the admiration which always is produced by a capable thunderer, even among Americans.

In thundering, Il Duce is at his best. He has not faltered on a single note in his defiance of the sanctions by which the League of Nations threatens to strangle Italy. It could never be guessed by reading his words or listening to them that Premier Mussolini is hovering perilously between the frying pan and the fire and that he knows it.

To bolster the morale of his countrymen and to keep a foundation under his own political position, he must roar that sanctions cannot deter Italy from its course. Though Italians already are painfully aware of the meaning of sanctions, their leader says that there is no danger and that sanctions will not be felt.

In the same breath, however, Premier Mussolini curses members of the League of Nations for doing what he tells his countrymen cannot be done — paralyzing the sturdy arm which has reached into Africa to seize Ethiopia. Objectively, it is a ridiculous contradiction. But politicians, not all of them dictators, either, frequently cover up the weakest points with the strongest statements. In fact, when a politician thunders that there is no danger, it's usually time to get braced for trouble. Unless the danger were present there wouldn't be any need to try to conceal it.

Friends and Critics.

Uncertainty over George N. Peek's intentions as the most recent estranged member of the official federal family is dispelled by Mr. Peek's own declaration. He has followed up his retirement as president of the export-import bank and as President Roosevelt's trade adviser with an announcement that he will open an office in Washington and go to work as a critic of the administration's foreign trade policies.

There is no better friend a man can have than an honest critic, Mr. Peek is believed to be fond of President Roosevelt. He has endured a good deal of unpleasantness as a government official, apparently fortified by his confidence in the President. But there finally came a time when, like Mr. Douglas and Gen. Johnson, Mr. Peek felt he couldn't hold his tongue any longer. He quit, more in sorrow than in anger.

Foreign trade policies are not in a field of popular discussion. Mr. Peek will have difficulty building up a following for his criticism. He will be a less noisy critic than Gen. Johnson and probably a less influential critic than the former director of the budget, Mr. Douglas. But among experts, Mr. Peek's objections will get attention. Once more, President Roosevelt, who once said he welcomed constructive criticism, seems in danger of discovering that while there is no better friend than an honest critic there is no better critic than an honest friend.

Postlude.

With Christmas and New Year's day gone, things quickly settle down to normal.

The Christmas tree is stripped of its ornaments and most of its needles and taken to the basement or to the backyard. In either place, it constitutes a problem.

The last of the Christmas candy is put into one dish and eaten up the first time the neighbors come in to spend the evening. The presents are put away. A few of the children's toys are packed up until later in the year.

The misfits—the slippers that are too small and the shirts that are too large—are exchanged, or traded as advantageously as possible for other equipment. Husbands and bachelors reluctantly begin to break in new pipes.

The air of cheerfulness disappears, and no one is startled if he gets a dark look and a muttered greeting. Santa Claus costumes are packed away, and radio entertainers forget about "Silent Night" and "The Christmas Carol" for another year.

It gets easy to write "1936" instead of "1935," and 1937 seems a long way in the future. So do next Christmas and next New Year's eve and everything that accompanies the two big occasions of the holiday season. The Christmas wreaths, the colored lights, the music, the celebration, the giving and the receiving—they were no less enjoyable than they always have been before. But, after all, if it always were the holidays, there wouldn't be any fun in living through them. It's the contrast that makes the fun, and the next 50 weeks can be depended on to provide plenty of contrast.

Pressure.

All states are interested in the effort being made by Illinois to force the federal government to resume direct relief grants. If Illinois can do it, why should other states decline new relief systems?

Obviously, Illinois officials responsible for the effort assume that blame for a breakdown of relief will be placed on the federal government. Otherwise, they wouldn't dare to threaten to suspend distribution of relief Jan. 15.

Illinois, with a large urban population, has an acute relief problem. But it is a wealthy state. In the long run, it can administer relief more economically by accepting the principle of state responsibility than by depending on the federal government.

The state's attitude creates a crisis in the current revision of relief policy. If Illinois can put enough pressure on Washington to force a return to direct relief, other states will demand the same doubtful privilege.

It's A Big Country.

Figures on individual incomes and income taxes for 1935 are being examined for significant trends and facts.

About four million returns for 1934 were filed, 9 per cent more than were filed for 1933. That meant that in 1934 only one person in 32, or one of every 10 adult citizens, made enough money to worry about income taxes. Less than half of the returns filed were taxable, moreover.

Thirty-two persons had net incomes of $1,000,000 or more. About 2,000 had net incomes of $100,000 or more. About 20,000 persons were lucky enough to have net incomes of $25,000 or more. Approximately 90 per cent of the returns shows a net income of $5,000 or less. The average net income reported, taxable and non-taxable, was $3,123. The average tax basis, when deductions had been made, was only $280.

Thanks to fub-thumpers and wealth sharers, the average American, who doesn't pay an income tax, doesn't file an income tax return and never expects to do either, feels he should figure out how to save the country by putting a mustard plaster on the income tax class. This has been going on for a long time, but the strange thing is that no one worries much about increasing the number of citizens who make enough money to pay income taxes.

In other words, a vast deal of energy is being wasted trying to make the rear half of the train, including the caboose, run faster by stopping the front half, which happens to include the engine. As a departure from the usual, it is suggested that in a country as big as the United States and as wealthy there should be at least twice as many citizens subject to income taxation as there are at present.

In Defense.

A purely academic issue has been created by discussion of the propriety of a fan dancer receiving federal relief benefits for doing her routine. Are fan dancers entitled to relief?

As citizens of the United States and as human beings, they have a clear claim to work relief benefits. As fan dancers, their claim is far from clear. Fan dancing, as commonly performed, is questionable art.

Still, it may be assumed a fan dancer has special talent. A lap dancer, for instance, would not be required to play "Hamlet" to make himself eligible for relief under the theatrical division of WPA. Why should a fan dancer be required to abandon her special art?

Disapproval of fan dancing on the part of many upstanding citizens is not a sufficient reason. All forms of entertainment have their critics. It cannot be assumed that fan dancing is intrinsically naughty; it is a question of viewpoint.

It is plain, however, that the academic approach to the matter is tricky. Here is one of those questions which calls for some bureaucratic ingenuity. Therefore, in a spirit of helpfulness, it is proposed that fan dancers applying for relief be grouped in a special class.

They should be permitted to wave their fans for their money. But, because of the stigma which common standards of morality places on their routine, audiences should be barred. All fan dancers needing relief should be required to dance for carefully selected groups of WPA officials, or for no audience at all. In that way, the fan wavers could get their money and audiences would get fewer fan dancers. That should prove satisfactory all around.

Danger in Some "Neutrality" Ideas

Congress To Choose Between Plans To Keep Us Out of War and Others To Draw Us In.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1935, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—Neutrality that leads to American participation in war, or neutrality that really keeps America out of war—these are the alternatives of policy between which congress is about to attempt to choose by writing laws that presumably will accomplish a peace objective.

So anxious are the American people to avoid another entanglement in a European war that members of congress sponsoring various neutrality proposals think all they have to do is to charge that American entry into the World war was due entirely to our own policy and the public will accept the thesis.

Actually, there is more danger of dragging America into war by some of the meddlesome proposals now being urged upon congress than there were in any of the various suggestions made in the period between 1914 and 1917.

The evidence on what happened at that time has been splendidly summarized in a new book by Professor Charles Seymour of Yale, who was editor of Colonel House's memoirs. Mr. Seymour makes it plain that unrestricted submarine warfare was something the Germans decided upon and was no invention or device contrived by President Wilson.

Why the German government determined to risk antagonizing America by proclaiming submarine attacks on innocent persons traveling at sea is something the German historians now ascribe to matters of strategy in the German navy, whose chieftains believed the policy was worth the risk. Nobody has come forth as yet in congress with any proposal that will take care of the insanity of foreign naval strategists or stupid diplomats who run the affairs of belligerent countries.

But an examination of the reasons why Germany was indifferent to American public opinion may reveal that, after a 1916 political campaign fought on the issue of keeping America out of war, the Germans may have come to the conclusion that the United States would not ultimately defend her rights.

Now the proposed neutrality policies for the future, which are pending in congress, all go on the supposition that America wants peace at any price, that rights will be surrendered rather than risk complications with foreign powers, and that, by a policy of complete isolation, the United States can avoid entanglements.

Most of the suggestions which have been made ignore the realities of a situation such as existed between 1914 and 1917. First of all, the belligerent with the most powerful navy enforces its blockade against its enemy. The neutral countries have their choice of supplying materials and foodstuffs to the belligerent with the better navy or declaring an embargo on all trade to foreign countries. As a practical matter, transshipment through neutral territory to belligerent countries is impossible to prevent.

At present in congress the proponents of a complete embargo believe this is the way to avoid war. Suppose, however, Great Britain is engaged in a life and death struggle with another power. Canada, it should not be forgotten, is a part of the British empire. Would the American people stop all trade with Canada? Would the Canadian people like that attitude? Would there be no bad feeling resulting in unlowered incidents that might inflame the passions of foreign countries against us?

An embargo of any kind, a warning to American shippers not to export to neutral countries that might resell goods to belligerents, is in itself taking sides. It is not neutrality. To enforce peace in the world, the League of Nations has tried to get concerted action on economic embargoes. America has sought to pursue an independent policy and has incurred illwill in Italy. Today America's attitude is the subject of criticism in our own country. What would it be if Italy were engaged in a major war in Europe? Would Italians in the United States feel happy about it?

Neutrality is a difficult and perplexing problem. It cannot be solved by writing specific statutes covering all possible contingencies, nor can it be solved by announcing in advance that America doesn't care what foreign governments do to her in the way of violating rights, that foreign airships may come over or submarines may attack without warning innocent persons traveling between the United States and neutral countries and that we'll do nothing about it.

But such a course might certainly lead to quicker involvement than it did in 1917. The only protection any country has in adopting a policy of embargoes is to take such action absolutely in unison with other countries, so that a united front is presented. If America, for her own reasons, doesn't want to become a member of the League of Nations, she can at least agree to take economic steps to curtail war trade only when other nations do likewise. Any treaty in advance may impair America's freedom of action.

Since the problem involves so many uncertainties, the only thing that can be done is to put discretionary power in the President, and if he doesn't conform to public opinion, congress can always meet and take such power away from him.

It is the definition of American policy as a submission in advance to belligerent roaming of the seas and even roaming of the air that may drag America into war by encouraging the navies or air forces of other countries to consider the United States and adjacent areas an unrestricted theater of battle.

1847 MAIL SERVICE

Residents of Morrow county did not begin the use of envelopes for their letters until 1847. Prior to that time the letters were written on a sheet of foolscap paper, folded over lengthwise, about one-third of the width from each side, then the ends were tucked in, one in the other and sealed with a sealing wax wafer. The address, the postmark and the amount of postage, which was from five to 25 cents, according to the distance and the number of sheets in a letter, all were indorsed on the letter.

Postage was not required to be prepaid until 1855. Postage stamps were first used in 1847. If the sender did not pay the postage on letters sent previous to 1855 then the receiver of the letter paid it. The postmaster frequently charged postage on his book account, if it was not paid in money, which was scarce, or in produce.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight.

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—The President has been tipped that he cannot get the broad discretionary neutrality powers he wanted out of the congress which opens today. His legislative leaders brought the bad news long before he finished his message. They did not have to make a thorough canvass of both houses to find out that the Capitol hillbillies are set in their neutrality ways.

The result is the promised war over peace between White House and congress is likely to be more fancy than fatal. President Roosevelt is making arrangements to that end. The World Court setback at the opening of the last session is still a fact memory. It was mishandled because the President did not know the strength of the opposition. The neutrality issue will not be.

Presidents have ways of getting what they want out of congress without fighting.

Soft-Pedaling

Mr. Roosevelt's first wise inside step has been to place the issue entirely in the hands of his congressional leaders. It was agreed the White House and state department (particularly the state department) will take a back seat and not try to do any driving. There is something about the state department which makes congressmen madder than they normally are. The department thinks foreign affairs should be completely free of congressional log-rolling. The log-rollers think those pinkfaced diplomats in the department are international fops.

Nearly all the inner crew agrees it was a tactical error for the department to have led the fight last session.

Compromise

What Mr. Roosevelt's legislative leaders have in the back of their heads now is a compromise. Something like this:

Let congress make it mandatory that the President apply embargoes against warring nations, but permit him full discretion as to when. Under the present neutrality act, he is compelled to impose arms embargoes against both sides when the war breaks out. Under the proposed compromise, he could hold off for a while.

For example, in case of war between Britain and Italy, we could then refrain from imposing an embargo. This would leave Britain free to buy here. The British fleet would see to it that Mussolini failed to receive whatever he bought. Mussolini would know that. It is the executive theory that therefore he would hesitate to start a war. Also that our diplomatic offices could thus be better used to promote world peace.

You can bank on it that the ultimate compromise will be something along this line.

Society Note

Nary a ripple of excitement was created in Washington when the first lady turned columnist. Three years ago it would have been a social sensation. There are two reasons it was not. Mrs. R. has broken precedent so often that it is news only when she doesn't. Also the inner understanding is that she undertook the work in hopes of promoting projects and ideals in which she is interested.

At the best bridge tables, even money is being wagered that Mrs. Roosevelt will tire of the daily stint before long.

The heart-rending thing about it is that the advertising for Mrs. R.'s column has completely snowed under the fact that Alice Roosevelt Longworth is also starting one Jan. 6.

Bare Bones

Some well informed authorities have doubted that the securities end of the Morgan business could be as bare as hinted in a recent column. A further check at the registry office here indicates that the name of the Morgan-Stanley Co. (which is handling the security end of the old business) has appeared oftener than most firms on recent registration applications.

But those highest inside the trade know that these refunding issues are old bones bearing little meat. The only juicy morsel lately, 'tis said, was that of a certain railroad which appears to have been grabbed by Mr. Jesse Jones' RFC. The truth still is that no one is making any real money in that business.

To keep the record straight, the reason why the J. P. Morgan bank is so bare is because most of the clerks and some of the partners have departed with the securities end of the business.

Times Change

More than one returning congressman has been grumbling about writing letters to regional resettlement administrators and failing to get a response until weeks later. Then along come very nice replies and offers of cooperation.

One congressman decided to investigate. He was informed that Prof. Tugwell had ordered all regional administrators to send letters from senators and congressmen to him here in Washington before replying.

Whether Tugwell wanted to satisfy them or check up on their political pressure, the congressmen do not know. However, they are satisfied, which is more than they were a year ago with anything Prof. Tugwell did. It is additional proof that he is learning the ways of the Washington world.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Jan. 2, 1926.

A Washington dispatch reported that President Coolidge's "political honeymoon," which had been in effect since his sweeping victory at the polls 14 months previous, appeared to be nearing a close with two major revolts and a number of minor ones developing in the party ranks.

Will H. Hunt of DeCliff announced his candidacy for county commissioner on the Republican ticket.

It was announced that the Marion automobile show would be held in February at the garage of the Marion Buick Co. on East Center street, which was being rebuilt following a fire.

Miss Julia C. Alexander and Ralph L. Snook, both of Marion, were united in marriage by Dr. J. D. Darling at the Wesley M. E. parsonage.

Harding High school basketball team defeated South High school of Columbus in Columbus, 27 to 25. Geissler scored three field goals, Linscott nad Lingo two each and Yazel, Storaci and Key one each.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Jan. 2, 1916.

Justice Joseph R. Lamar of the United States supreme court died at his home in Washington. He was 58 years old and had been on the supreme court five years on appointment by President Taft.

Willard H. Porter, former engineer in the employ of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., died at his home on Lee street.

Epworth Methodist Sunday school officers were installed by the pastor, Dr. Jesse Swank. The superintendents were K. H. Marshall, senior department, Mrs. W. J. Grills, junior department, Mrs. Frank Sifritt, primary department, Mrs. S. P. Gregg, beginners department, Miss Estella Leach, cradle roll and Mrs. P. T. Rubins, home department.

The hydrate mill at the plant of the Ohio & Western Lime Co. north of Marion was destroyed by fire with a loss of over $6,000.

New York Notes

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—The metropolis, believed to be almost entirely a city of cigaret, pipe and cigar smokers, has many devotees of what Abe Martin called "eatin' tobacco." Every tobacconist in the Fifth and Park avenue areas keeps numerous brands of plug and scrap tobacco on hand.

It is never displayed and its users are even more secretive. Some of the most immaculate chewers of the weed. Chauncey Depew was wont to slip a nip of fine cut in his jaw when preparing some of his famous speeches. Even Harry Lehr liked a bite of raw Burley twist now and then.

Among the old time theatrical men, Tom Health, of McIntyre and Heath, Jack Norworth and Hap Ward are unashamed chewers. And Fred Allen, of a later generation, often goes on long, lone walks just to enjoy the soothing effects of a reflective cud.

Winnie Sheehan, the film executive, takes a chew on the sly now and then when he drives his Rolls through the country roads, a throw-back to the days when he was a hard boiled police reporter. Julian Eltinge, foremost of the female impersonators, is also a devotee.

Herb Williams recently revived his knock-down-and-drag-out piano skit at a gambol at the Waldorf. For the evening he borrowed Tommy Lamb, the venerable house cat at the Lambs. Tommy's waking hours are spent largely at the end of the bar in contemplative gazing at celebrity customers. So when the explosion catapulted him out of the piano at the finale of the act, he indulged a bewildered hound over the footlights and down the aisle. Two hours later, drenched by rain, he was at the entrance of the club-house, meowing to get in.

Once to every man comes the Big Moment. And that moment—or rather hour—came to Frank Fay in Hollywood recently. Admittedly the suavest master of ceremony of his day—no one ever topped his run at the Palace—he somehow landed in the "dog house" in cinema land. The breaks have been against him, the studio doors closing and even fellow players bowing coldly. At an auspicious film gathering Donald Ogden Stuart failed to appear as m. c. at the last moment. Fay was rushed in with no preparation. His reception was almost cruel as he took the floor, but for an hour he fairly rocked them with delicious foolery and shrewdly sly thrusts. It was the most versatile and dazzling one-man exhibition Hollywood had seen. Just as suddenly as he began he dusted off his hands as though finishing some distasteful task, threw back his shoulders and walked out of the hall. A sweet revenge!

MANY A SUFFERER HAS REGAINED HEALTH THRU CLEANLINESS
To keep clean externally is very good. But it is more important to clean well internally. Many ways, too numerous to mention, our bodies have a tendency to clog up with waste material. This condition of waste material in a person's system causes a host of diseases as ARTHRITIS, RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, APOPLEXY, HEART and KIDNEY DISEASES. No better slogan for these mentioned sufferers than to clean up internal poisons and toxins caused by waste material. We know there is no better remedy than our Lower's HEPATIC TRITICUM which stimulates a good LIVER, KIDNEY and BOWEL action. Hundreds of local people have regained health through using this Marion made product. Sold at Lower's Pharmacy.
